Purely Business!

The columns of a newspaper represent a cash value. No publisher is forced to give advertising "notions" free any more than a merchant is forced to give his goods free of charge. A newspaper is a business concern. Its accounts are its stock in trade, and advertisements should be paid for as they would be paid for in any other business.

GETTIN' RESTLESS.

Fears like they're gettin' restless, as far as you kin see—

The boys who followed Sherman—the boys who fought with Lee;

It may be a misjudge 'em, 'tise somehow, left 'em right;

They're waitin' together like they're ready for a fight!

Sorter gettin' restless—although the ol' flag waves

An' ripples in the sunshine over so many graves!

But see—we're all one people, an' we need our country's call.

An' when they strike one section they interfere with all.

FRENCH ORANDIES.

The artists who designed the beautiful stoffs went direct to Nature for their colorings. Oriental orchids suspended in silvery mist are not more radiant than these aristocratic orandies, so fine of fiber, so delicate and elegant in design. They are exquisite propitiation of summer dress. Imprescible style—sims, leaves, flowers, buds, sprays mellowed on filmy cloth so naturally, you wonder how ponderous machinery could have wrought such dainty loveliness.

FOUR STYLES.

selected at random from dozens. No. 1—Black ground impressed with opulent tulips. The color scheme includes pink, green, white. No. 2—White ground lavishly covered with pink apple blossoms interwoven with zigzag design of pale green. No. 3—Blue ground with narrow leaf stripe, the whole showered with cypripediums, wide open blooms in wonderfully brilliant color combinations. No. 4—Cream ground beautifully plaided in lavender and green, very stylish.

See window display, then examine the royal outspread on the counters; you'll be surprised and charmed.
